PRIVATE DAY & BOARDING SCHOOL

Location Features

Waterford (Port Láirge) is Ireland's oldest city – it celebrated its 1100th anniversary in 2014 – with a history that dates back to Viking times. Taking its name from the Old Norse vedrarfjord ('winter haven' or 'windy harbour' are just two of several possible translations), it remains a busy port city on a tidal reach of the River Suir, and is famous as the home of Waterford crystal.

St Conleth's College

Ballsbridge, Dublin

PRIVATE DAY SCHOOL

Location Features

Ballsbridge is arguably Dublin's most exclusive address. Some streets boast the highest real estate prices in Ireland with asking prices of up to €50 million for a single property. The area has traditionally been the home of the majority of foreign embassies in Dublin. It is not hard to see why the rich and powerful come to Ballsbridge: Originally developed in Victorian times, the streets are wide and tree lined and houses are substantial and set back in vast private grounds. Of all Dublin areas, Ballsbridge has the least built-up and most 'private' feel. Yet, despite the space and relative tranquility, Ballsbridge is only minutes away from the city centre.

Location Features

Limerick straddles the tidal reaches of Ireland's longest river, the Shannon, where it swings west to join the Shannon Estuary. Following the city's tough past, as narrated in Frank McCourt's Angela's Ashes, its medieval and Georgian architecture received a glitzy makeover during the Celtic Tiger era. Limerick was chosen as the country's first-ever Irish City of Culture in 2014, and the subsequent investment saw a rejuvenated waterfront complete with stylish boardwalk. There's a recently renovated castle, a lively art gallery and a fast-developing foodie scene to complement its many traditional pubs, as well as locals who go out of their way to welcome you.

Old Conna House sits on 14 acres of forest and parkland and has fantastic facilities, exceptional grounds, over 25 classrooms, Admin site, staffroom, Dining room and kitchen facilities; views of Dublin Bay and the Wicklow mountains, good local transport links.

Art, Music and Drama are considered important aspects in a John Scottus education. All students can study art, sing in the choir, study drama and can participate in the school orchestra. Every year the school has two major productions and in particular in the past year students have performed the musical Oliver and the play Merchant of Venice. A recent project to note was the Art Mosaic project where an imaginative school wall Mosaic was created to reflect the ethos of the school. Another project to note was in drama studies students wrote a script and produced a film titled "Gone Missing" which was presented as part of a film festival.

swimming, rounders, tennis, yoga and athletics. In addition students participate in extra-curricular team based sports in soccer, hockey, athletics, Ultimate Frisbee and basketball.

To emphasis the importance of physical education, at John Scottus we provide twice the recommended PE time for every student ie. 2

Sport and physical education is considered an important aspect of the John Scottus education as all sports activities offer great opportunity to develop attention in the present moment. The physical education program includes modules in hockey, soccer, Ultimate Frisbee, rugby, basketball, Gaelic football, dance, fitness challenges,

The curriculum in John Scottus based on designing learning experiences that encourage the child to develop the habits of stillness, attention and enquiry. To do this it gives students systematic exposure to a wide range of subjects.

The School follows the core curriculum of the Department of Education and Science for the three years of the Junior Cycle, the Transition Year and the two years of the Senior Cycle. However there are significant differences in delivery of this curriculum and the School also embraces aspects of a wider curriculum which are central to the John Scottus system of education. In addition to the conventional curriculum the school also teaches Philosophy, Classical Studies, Latin, Greek, Sanskrit, Art, Music and Drama.

Philosophy is studied to develop critical thinking skills and to appreciate how philosophical principles can bring clarity to the way we live our lives. In John Scottus, philosophy is about enquiring about concepts such as truth, courage, justice and love. It is about asking questions such as 'Who am I?', 'What is this world around me?', and 'How am I to lead a full and satisfying life?'. The subject material for philosophy is supported by great spiritual literature from both East and West and about learning about those, for example Socrates, who have led the way in this field.

Mastery of language and speech is considered fundamental to good education. To this end there is an emphasis on offering the best and finest works that appear in Shakespeare, ancient and classical literature. In addition there is the opportunity to study the classical languages of Greek, Latin and Sanskrit. The study of languages is supported through many school activities such as literacy theme weeks, speech competitions, essay writing competitions, debating and school trips.
